

Ahmed Malik

General Information

Ahmed has an established legal practice with a wealth of experience in several areas of law. He practised both as a legal executive and a solicitor for over 18 years before becoming a barrister in 2008, fulfilling his long-term ambition as a higher Court advocate.

A general civil practitioner, Ahmed specialises in children and family, property, immigration and regulatory proceedings against professionals. He is friendly, approachable, easily accessible and conscientious about his professional obligations towards both his lay and professional clients. A strong advocate, his submissions are regularly referred to as robust and incisive. He has a high success rate and often exceeds clients' expectations.

Ahmed is an accredited mediator (civil and commercial). He is authorised to undertake direct access work and to conduct litigation, where he is instructed directly by a member of the public rather than a solicitor. He is very considerate and often accepts instructions on reduced fees from those of moderate means, as he is passionate about facilitating access to justice.
